NYC demand response programs pay you to use less energy when the grid is stressed. How can you capitalize on this opportunity?

Aciex Impact from Emacx Systems is the real-time, intelligent demand response event manager software that helps you capture maximum demand response revenue. Aciex Impact automatically calculates your baseline for each ConEdison or NYISO event, helping you manage required kilowatt shed amounts in order to reach targeted demand levels – even with simultaneous multiple demand response events.

BENEFITS

- Maximized demand response revenue earnings capabilities
- Increased employee decision making, productivity and job satisfaction
- Improved risk management
- Improved tracking and performance reporting
- Cost-effective; no capital investment required
- Customer support through local and national experienced professionals

Aciex Impact is the cost-efficient solution giving your team the data, visualization, scheduling and decision-making tools to manage energy demand response strategies for maximized savings and earnings potential. This is your first step to achieving improved operational efficiencies through a real-time automated energy event management platform, allowing you to grow seamlessly into a fully-automated demand response operation via our Aciex Pro solution.

ACIEX IMPACT FEATURES

- Easy to use and navigate
- Visual aids indicating building's required demand reduction and demand response event duration
- Automatic real-time baseline calculations for target demand levels, including weather adjustments
- SMS texts/email notifications of load curtailment opportunities
- Ability to manage multiple, concurrent demand response events
- Simple pull-down menus for inputting targeted kW shed amounts
- Completely automate demand response when combined with Aciex Pro, allowing your company to participate in lucrative Ancillary Services Demand Response programs

Automate energy demand-side management capabilities.

Presenting Emacx's full suite of Aciex Intelligent Software Products

Emacx Systems, Inc. is an energy management software and technology company providing the next generation of real-time demand-side management (DSM) solutions to North American energy-intensive enterprises.

We offer the only proprietary intelligent software solution that collects and synthesizes relevant data to actively and automatically reduce your building energy use and demand, so you can reduce demand 5% to 10% and demand charges up to 40%.

Emacx's suite of products covers all aspects of energy demand response:

- Aciex Pro, the fully-automated, turnkey, demand control software solution
- Aciex Pulse, the carbon footprint monitoring management software solution to help you align with new carbon footprint legislation like NYC's Local Law 97
- Aciex Impact, the demand response event management software solution

Emacx Systems can also provide customized, tailored solutions to meet your individual needs.

Can Emacx save you time and money, automatically?
